NEW YORK, JULY 7.

On Saturday evening arrived the brig Trial, in 43 days from Liverpool; by which London papers are received to the 21st May.—Extracts follow:

LONDON, MAY 18.

The king on Thursday was present in Hyde Park, at a field day of the grenadier battalion of guards, which went thro' their evolutions in a manner much to their credit, and the satisfaction of his majesty. In firing by companies from the center to flank, Mr. O[illegible]ey, [illegible] ivy office, who stood a few yards from the king, received a musket ball, which entered the groin, and came out at the back part of the hip. His majesty instantly rode up, and with the most benignant solicitude directed that the utmost attention should be paid to him, and that he should be attended by his own [illegible] the army surgeons. —The wound, which we are happy to learn is not mortal was supposed to have been occasioned by one of the soldiers having by mistake loaded with ball-cartridge. To ascertain, however, whether any man had a second of the same description, the battalion, with recovered arms, was faced to the right about, and their cartouch boxes examined, but the inspection terminated in favor of them all.

Their evolutions were then resumed, and his majesty, in a similar position, attended by lords Chatham, Chesterfield, and Cathart, General Gwyn, and Colonel Calvert, continued during four other firings.

In the evening their Majesties and the Princesses went to Drury lane Theatre.—Just as his majesty entered his box, and was bowing to the audience with his usual condescension, a person who sat in the second row from the orchestra, but towards the middle of the pit, got upon the seat, and levelling a horse-pistol at the king's box, fired it. It was so instantaneous as to prevent all the persons near him from seeing his design in time to defeat it, though providentially Mr. Holroyd, of Scotland yard, had the good fortune to raise the arm of the assassin, so as to direct the contents of the pistol towards the roof of the box.

The audience remained for a second in an agony of suspence. His majesty shewed the most perfect compoture. After the first moment of stupor, the persons around him and the musicians from the orchestra seized the man, and hurried him over the palisades into the musicians' room. Mr. M. Wright, a solicitor of eminence, in Wellclose-square, who sat immediately behind him, was the first to secure him. —He dropt the pistol, but Mr. Wright found it under the seat.

MAY 20.

Yesterday arrived at Deal, and passed at the back of the Sands, the Maria Charlotte, a Hamburgh ship from Bengal, after a passage of three months and fifteen days, without touching at any port since she left India. By this vessel we have received India gazettes of a late date, which brings an account of the arrival at Bombay of the Albion, captain Timbril, and the Woodford, captain James Martin, on the 6th December last. The passengers in the above ships arrived all safe and in good health.

These gazettes bring an account also of the arrival in the Ganges, of the Sanson, American ship, from England, after having had an engagement off the island of Cheduvah, with a French privateer brig of 16 guns, which she beat off. One man on board the American was killed; and a lady, a passenger, had the misfortune to lose her arm by a shot, while employed in the humane act of dressing a seaman's wounds.

Besides the dispatches which we announced yesterday to have been received from Lord Minto, government also received dispatches from Mr. Wickham, dated at Ulm, on the 8th instant, containing an account of the issue of the engagement which took place between the Austrians and French on the Rhine, on the 3d (or, according to the French account on the 4th) and of that which took place on the 5th. The following extract contains the substance of the dispatch received from Mr. Wickham:

"The enemy, by withdrawing his whole force from the North East frontier of Switzerland, had been enabled to unite a force of 200,000 men. The position of Stokach was attacked on the 31 with a very inferior force, and carried with some loss on the part of the Austrians. At the same time the main body of the French commanded by general Moreau in person, made a desperate attack upon the Austrian force under general Kray, at Engen, but after an obstinate conflict, and sacrificing an immense number of men, they were obliged to desist.

In the mean time the Archduke Ferdinand, who had defeated a body of the enemy that had attempted to cut him off, effected his junction with the main body.—In consequence, however, the loss of Stokach, and the absence of several considerable detachments, general Kray found himself under the necessity of withdrawing in a direction towards the Danube.

In the course of this march he was attacked again on the 5th, in a temporary position at Moeskirch, by the whole French army, who were again repulsed, after an obstinate conflict, and experiencing a loss much greater than that of the Austrians. The French did not venture to renew the attack in the night, or on the next morning. On the 6th, the Austrians took up a position behind the Danube, between Riedlingen and Sigmaringen, without any opposition from the enemy, and on the 8th had again repassed the river, and were preparing to advance. The Archduke Ferdinand is reported to have distinguished himself particularly."

Such are the accounts which ministers have received, and the result appears to be, that hitherto the Austrians have gained ground. The loss on both sides in killed must have been great. It is impossible from such imperfect statements as we yet have, to ascertain what is the true state of the respective armies. General Kray doubtless will receive reinforcements in some measure to repair his losses. On the other hand, letters from Strasburg state, that several regiments of cavalry passed through that place on the 11th, for Moreau's army. In cavalry the latter was principally deficient.

Great apprehensions are entertained for the States of Wirtemberg. The family of his Serene Highness, in case of necessity, intends to remove to Anspach. That they will be compelled to do so is probable from the positions of the two armies, and the French General has issued orders to treat the States of Wirtemberg rigorously, as an enemy's country. The Margrave of Baden, who remained neuter, continues in his capital, and his states are respected.

Government, it is reported, received Paris Journals yesterday three days later than those of which we have published the contents. They are said to contain a letter from Moreau, dated the 11th, giving ample details of the previous battles, and of a new one on the 9th, in which the French were again successful. Moreau is represented to assert that he has taken in all 10,000 prisoners, and four pieces of cannon, and that the Austrians are retreating to Ulm.

MAY 21.

The Gazette of last night contains Mr. Wickham's dispatches, with the account of the different actions in Suabia. The battles of the 3d and 5th seem to have been obstinately contested; but the retreat of the Austrians, and the advance of the enemy, shew too clearly on which side the advantage was.

Paris papers to the 18th inclusive, reached us this morning. They contain official details of the same battles alluded to in the Gazette. Our readers, by comparing the accounts, will find little difficulty in forming a pretty accurate opinion respecting the state of the hostile armies.

These papers also contain a telegraphic dispatch from Huningen, dated the 16th inst. stating the capture of Memmingen by the right wing of the French army.

The private letters in the Paris Journals state, that the battles of the 3d and 5th were most bloody. The loss of the Austrians is estimated at 20,000 killed and 12,000 wounded; the French 5,000 killed and 7000 wounded. On the 7th the Austrians are said to have gained some advantages, but were soon compelled to retreat. The right wing of the French on the 9th, it is said, entered Lindau, and another was preparing to attack Bregentz, after passing the Rhine at Rheinack. The French army seems to be advancing to Augsburgh.

From Masena there is no direct news; but an official letter from general St. Hilaire, commandant of Marseilles, contains some accounts from Genoa as late as the 31 instant.

Buonaparte arrived at Geneva late on the 8th of May. Dispatches were received from him on the 13th—the head quarters of the army were at Lausanne. The chief consul reviewed the advanced guard, which was to set out the same day under the command of general Lannes. The whole army is reported to be in a most excellent state.

A letter from Merlin, the ex director, to his friend at Paris, states, that the army of reserve was about to proceed to Italy by the great St. Bernard and the Duchy of Aost, into Piedmont; and that the Austrians would soon have 60,000 men in their rear. Buonaparte said on the parade, that they would be at Milan in two decades. Prodigious exertions have been making to send provisions and stores to Geneva, and it has been necessary to have recourse to requisitions for many articles. General Desaix, Poussielgue, Tallien, and 130 officers of the army of Egypt, are arrived at Toulon.

DEAL, MAY 19.

Arrived and sailed for the river, the Chesapeake, Tombs, from New York.

Passed through the Downs, several American vessels from New York; one large ship had her main topmast carried away last Saturday in a heavy gale of wind—three men were at the mast head at the time, but fortunately no lives were lost. A man of war and several large ships are now coming through the Guls—one of them is the Druid with troops.

The Superb, Trail, from Charleston, is arrived off Weymouth. On the 15th inst. in long. 12, lat. 49, she was boarded by a privateer of 12 guns, who had captured the Princess Amelia Packet, from the West Indies; and two brigs for Newfoundland; one of them from Dartmouth and the other from Jersey.

INDIAN NEWS.

WASHINGTON, (G.) JUNE 12.

The following is an extract of a letter from a gentleman in Greensborgh, to the Editor of the Washington Gazette, dated June 6, 1800.

"By letters I received last evening from the Creek nation (extracts from which I enclose) together with a copy from an original letter written by W. A. Bowles to the head warrior of the Tallapalle—Should you think the publishing of them would be interesting to our fellow citizens, please to give them a place in your paper.

"I am yours, &c."

EXTRACTS

Coetah Tallahoffe, 2d June, 1800.

"On the 29th May, an Indian of the Cowetah's arrived at this place, from St. Mark's, reports, that on the 20th, the Spaniards surrendered the fort, with all the arms, ammunition, &c. to general Bowles; he also brought a letter to (Tustonoge Opoie) the head man of this town, dated the 22d ult. of which I enclose you a copy.

"The annual meeting of the nation is now sitting at the Tuckabatchas, after that is over, you may expect to hear from me by the first opportunity."

[From another Letter.]

Bowles has taken Fort St. Marks from the Spaniards, together with all their arms, ammunition, &c. The Indians are well pleased, and are going from all parts of the nation to join him.

[COPY.]

Fort St. Marks, 22d May, 1800.

Friends and Brothers,

The Great Ruler of World, knowing the justness of our cause, has been pleased to make the arms of Mulcogee victorious over our enemies—the Fort of St. Marks surrendered on the 20th instant, we have taken it without the loss of one man.

I send you this that you may rejoice, and communicate it to all our beloved people.

I am your's, till death,

(Signed) WM. A BOWLES.

Tustonogee Opoie.

N B Will be very glad to see you.

NEW LONDON, JULY 2.

On Monday evening arrived in this city, the President of the United States, on his way to Quincy. The citizens immediately convened on his arrival, to adopt suitable measures, to pay him that respect which the head of a free people merits, and which their feelings and sentiments prompted them to manifest. A committee was accordingly appointed to wait on the President, to communicate their wishes—but being informed that he intended to proceed on his journey early in the morning, they were deprived of the pleasure they anticipated. A large and respectable number of citizens, however, met in the morning, when the following address was presented, to which the President made the following answer—A salute was fired at Fort Trumbull, the colours of the shipping in the harbour were displayed, and the citizens escorted him a few miles out of town. We have only to regret that his short tarry in this city would not admit of more distinguished marks of respect and esteem.

ADDRESS

From the Corporation of the City of New London, to the President of the United States.

SIR,

The corporation of the city of New London seize, with avidity, your short stay among them, to pay their respects to the first magistrate of a free and enlightened people, and to join in the general voice of their country, in bearing testimony to the early, trying, and decided parts, which the purest patriotism only could have prompted you to take in our important and glorious revolution. We might regret that the occasion of a personal interview has been so late afforded, did it not bring with it the result of experience to your wisdom, zeal, and fidelity, in the various stations to which Providence has called you—That you may enjoy its smiles in your present journey, and to a distant period, is the continued esteem, respect, and gratitude of your fellow citizens, is our devout prayer.

RICHARD LAW,
Mayor of the city of New London.
July 1, 1800.

THE PRESIDENT'S ANSWER

To the Corporation of the city of New London.

GENTLEMEN,

I receive with sincere satisfaction this testimony of esteem from the corporation of the respectable city of New London.

The part I took in our important and glorious revolution, was the effect of a sense of duty; of the natural feelings of a man for his native country of his ancestors for several generations, of all the principles moral, civil, political and religious in which I had been educated; and if it had been even more injurious than it has been or ever so destructive to my private affairs, or ruinous to my family, I should never repent it.

I did but concur with my fathers, friends, fellow citizens and countrymen, in their sensations and reflections, and lay no claim to more than a common share with them in the honor of the result.

It would be devoutly and eternally to be deplored, if this most glorious achievements, or the principal characters engaged in it, should ever fall into disgrace in the eyes of Americans.

In return for your kind wishes, gentlemen, I wish you every thing.

JOHN ADAMS.

New London, July 1, 1800.

PHILADELPHIA, JULY 7.

Yesterday arrived at the Port, the ship Maria, Thompson, from Leghorn. Left Leghorn the 29th April and stopped at Gibraltar, from which place she sailed the 29th May.

On the [illegible] May, spoke an English squadron bound up the Streights. Capt. Thomson has brought with him a Circular Letter, addressed by our Consul at Leghorn, to the American masters of vessels, informing them of his having received official advice from the American Consul at Tunis, that all differences with the Barbary States had been amicably adjusted—Capt. Thomson brings nothing new respecting the contending armies on the continent.

Several young married people have [illegible] merry on the approaching political [illegible] very numerous [illegible]. Sir John Ball, [illegible] good natured old bachelor, [illegible] ever tripped a pot of [illegible] end from the most ancient families in Europe, and the match may in every respect be considered as mutually advantageous. It is high time that it should be consummated, for the Lady, owing probably to her long celibacy, is growing very peevish and quarrelsome, and, from the fear of dying an old maid, has made several attempts to throw herself into the arms of a debauched and emaciated French gallant, the long inveterate rival of St. JOHN.

By an ordinance of the Corporation of the city of Augusta, laying on a tax for the uses of the city, among other things all animals exhibited for shew within the city, such as elephants, lions, tygers, leopards, camels, dromedaries, hogs and monkey, are taxed at 100 dollars each.

The Duke of Wirtemberg has commissioned a Major General Segar to execute at the head of 4000 men, a secret and important enterprize against the French. A observes, that if the commission should not be conducted with caution and secrecy, his enemies will smoke him.

Alexandria, July 11.

☞ The Communication from Dr J. Spence, of Dumfries, on the virtues of the Digitalis, or Foxglove, shall have a place in the next MIRROR.

The ship Columbia, of this port, sailed from Leghorn, for Liverpool, on the 29th of April—at the same time the Castor and Pollux, Robinson, of Baltimore, sailed for Calcutta.

By Wednesday's Post I received three numbers of "Green's Imperial Observer," a paper lately established at the Natchez. The first number contains an interesting and picturesque description of the Funeral Ceremonies at Fort Adams, on the Mississippi, in honor of the late Illustrious WASHINGTON, which closes with a relation of the following catastrophe:

"A single incident only occurred to interrupt the solemnities of the day, which is too remarkable and too deeply affecting, to be omitted.

"A sergeant M'Leod, distinguished for his integrity and soldiership, who had made arms his profession from the cradle, and had served in the ranks under General Washington, was on the sick list, and unable to mingle in the honors and respects of the day offered to the memory of his Chief:—When the battalion in return, approached the grand parade, it broke into quick time, with the customary air of

"So went the merry man home to his grave;"

at this instant, a shot was heard in one of the huts, and it was soon known that poor M'Leod was no more!—In the prime of life, sound of mind, in a state of convalescence, and beloved by all ranks, this meritorious veteran fell a victim to a momentary impulse of sensibility, which prostrated the powers of reason!—Poor M'Leod! the sensible and the humane will drop a tear to thy memory."

Copy of a letter received from Tunis.

Consulate of the United States,
Tunis, 10th April, 1800.

SIR,

Having at length amicably adjusted the affairs of the United States, with the bey and regency of Tunis, I desire you would communicate this agreeable intelligence to the masters of American vessels, and others interested, who may come within the limits of your consulate.

The principal minister of the bey had pledged himself that the last clause of the 12th article of our treaty with this regency, inserted by Joseph Etienne Fornir, shall have the same effect with respect to American merchant vessels as the custom of all other nations at peace with Tunis has established with respect to their own and no others. There is therefore, now, no danger to be apprehended from American vessels visiting this coast.

Perfect health prevails here.

I am, &c.

WILLIAM EATON.

Robert Truxman, jun.
Ch. & Vice-consul for the U. S.
Leghorn, 25th April, 1800.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Bourdeaux to a respectable house in this city, dated May 2, 1800.

"From the best information we have received from Paris, it appears that the negociation with the American ministers goes on but slowly at present. The French privateers are continually bringing in American vessels. On the 27th of the last month, was brought in here, a fine ship called the Portland, captain Pollard, from New York to Liverpool. Some hope is entertained of her being released. The power with which Buonaparte is invested, exceeds that of every king who ever ruled over France. Every thing is very quiet here. Reports state that the French army in Italy has been defeated. Coffee and Sugar is in demand. Provisions low."

SUMMARY

of European News from a New York paper of July 7.

On Saturday evening arrived at this port, the brig Trial, Griffin, in 43 days from Liverpool. London papers to the Twenty first of May, inclusive, are received by her at the office of the Mercantile Advertiser.

From these papers we learn, that on the 4th and 5th of May two sanguinary battles were fought between the French army of the Rhine and Austrians, in which the latter were defeated with the loss of 21,000 men killed and wounded, and at an expence to the victors of 12,000 men

No occurrence of moment appears to have taken place in Italy since the date of our former accounts from that quarter.

An attempt has been made to assassinate the king of Great Britain, by a man, the greatest part of whose life has been previously distinguished by a series of gallant services, performed for his sovereign and his country.

We are still in darkness respecting our commissioners; they are not mentioned in the papers before us. There is good reason to infer, even from this silence, that a good understanding prevailed between the commissioners and those of the republic; and that the report by way of Boston, of their dismissal by the first Consul, in consequence of a correspondence between them and the British Minister, is a gross imposition on the credulity of the American people.

LONDON, MAY 17.

ADMIRALTY-OFFICE, May 16.

Copy of a letter from Vice Admiral Lord Keith, Commander of his Majesty's ships and vessels in the Mediterranean, dated on board the Minotaur, off Genoa, April 18.

I have the satisfaction of acquainting you, for the information of their Lordships, that the Guillaume Tell having attempted to escape from Malta on the evening of the 29th ult. was intercepted and captured the following morning by his Majesty's ships Lyon, Foudroyant, & Penelope; but, as I have not yet received captain Dixon's account of the particulars of the action, or the loss which has been sustained, I must take another opportunity of communicating them. I understand, however, that the enemy was completely dismasted before the struck; and that the Lion and Foudroyant have had killed and wounded about 40 men each.

PARIS, 15th FLOREAL.

ROYALIST CONSPIRACY.

The discovery of a new Royalist conspiracy engrosses the attention of every body, and it becomes the subject of universal conversation. It would be difficult to report with precision the various accounts and conjectures which it has given rise to. As usual in such cases, curiosity is less excited, and conversation turns less upon the obscure individuals who have been taken up than upon supposed accomplices not yet discovered, to whom the spirit of party attributes criminal intentions; the names of the persons are not yet known. But it is not a little surprizing to find among them the identical Veyrat, who, on the 18th Fructidor, was appointed inspector general of police. Made master before he, a young lady aged 25 was taken up yesterday in consequence of discoveries made by the police, and it is this moment reported that the brother in law of citizen Delarue, one of the representatives banished the 18th Fructidor, and the youngest of his brothers in law are also among the number of those in confinement.

Eleven agents of police and some officers expect every moment to be examined. Report also states, that there are some prefets implicated in this bullisels.

This plot was detected on the 14th. The counsellors of state appointed by the first consul to examine the papers of the committee so discovered and arrested on that day are citizens Emery, Brune, Dejean, and Chaptal.

The following are the heads of these papers, according to the Journal des Hommes Libres. "Instructions for the agents. List of the public functionaries to superintend. Account kept of the conduct of each of them. A very comprehensive cypher, with explanation in the margin. Register of all the sums which have been distributed to the faithful servants of his Majesty; even the gold pieces in the temple of the Magdelene, the 21st of January is carried into this account; the greatest part of these sums is for the payment of writers. More than 100,000 livres appear to have been paid for writing libels against the first consul; these are in the hands of the police."

The whole correspondence, says the Journal du Commerce, proves a manifest intention to overturn the government, to give the command of the armies to Pichegrue, who was to place France in the hands of its legitimate Sovereign, to corrupt the commandants of the ports, and deliver the ports up, &c.

Buonaparte and General Lannes were both to have been assassinated at the same instant. Brest was to have been given up to the English, to effect which purpose counterfeit seals of all the ministers were provided, in order to remove the garrisons of that city to a distance, and send into it 3000 Chouans as republicans, the count d'Artois was then to be proclaimed. This account is not published in the Moniteur, but all the other papers of the 14th and 15th mention it.—The Journal de Paris adds that it is a miserable intrigue, unworthy of notice, while other papers assert, that the persons arrested are contumacies paid by England, to restore royalty in France.

VENICE, APRIL 16, 11 AT NIGHT.

A few hours since we received by a courier the agreeable news that the Austrians on the 13th, about three in the afternoon, had entered Genoa. A great battle, and three other severe actions had first been fought, in which Massena fell, and his army, consisting of 20,000 men, was all either killed, wounded, or taken prisoners.

[Augsburgh Gaz. April 25]

OPERATIONS IN ITALY.

Nice, 9 Floreal, April 29.

The commissioner Lemmontier, has arrived here from Genoa: He was chased by a privateer so near the coast, that he was obliged to make his escape by swimming, but he lost all his dispatches. Massena is blockaded in Genoa, with 10 000 men, and the Austrian advanced posts are very near him. He has still provisions for twenty days, and hopes to receive more. The Austrians, more numerous than we, still occupy Finale, Savona, and fort St. James, with the whole extent of the country, between general Suchet and Massena. General Soult has performed prodegies of valour.

Id. Floreal, April 30.

The fortrels of Savona has been supplied with provisions. The enemy has not yet attempted to carry it by storm. It has a numerous artillery; an immense quantity of warlike stores; an excellent system of fortification, and a resolute garrison; all which enable the commander of that place to make a most vigorous resistance. The plan of the Austrians appears to be to reduce it by famine; but these hopes will be deceptions and unavailing.

The provisions which lieutenant general Soult has caused to be collected from various places arrive there daily, and the subsequent letter*, addressed by this general to the commander of that place, cannot fail to confirm the general opinion which has been circulated to the honor of the French names.—

* Extract from the letter alluded to above.—"I am astonished to learn that the enemy surrounds you, and pushes you to the very gates of the town. If so, you ought, and I order you, to menace the inhabitants with the burning of their town, if the enemy does not withdraw immediately; and you ought to keep your word. It is among the inhabitants of Savona that you ought to dispose of the useless mouths that are within your port; reduce your garrison to fighting men only and draw from the city all the subsistence you can. In your situation every forbearance is a crime.

Valuable Property

FOR SALE.

THE SUBSCRIBER OFFERS FOR SALE,

That valuable Property known by the name of

Clifton Paper-Mill,

With all the improvements, and 50 acres of Land; most of which is in wood. The mill is an over-shot, with a wheel of 20 feet 9 inches, on the constant stream at any in this part of the country. She is a two vat mill, and every way calculated for that purpose, with two iron presses of the best construction, made by Reynolds and Sharpless, Brandywine Mills, a settling pond of fine water at the mill door, with an excellent pump for conveying the water to the engines, a size kettle, moulds, flats, and every other apparatus for carrying on the Paper-Making business.

The mill-house is 50 by 28 feet, two stories high, with a loft—There are also two vat-houses, a drying house, and rag-house, convenient to the mill, with a barn sheded on each side, sufficient to hold ten horses; a convenient dwelling house (not quite finished) with a kitchen, meat-house, and corn-house; the whole of which has been built within these 4 years past. There is a thriving young orchard of peach and other fruit trees, just beginning to bear.

This property lies within 8½ miles of Dumfries, on tide-water, and within about 34 miles of Alexandria, City of Washington, and G. Town, at which places the manufacturer finds a ready market, and where a large proportion of materials are collected. A water conveyance offers almost at any time, there being several craft which constantly trade to and from the above places. Falmouth and Fredericksburg are within 25 miles; these, with the places above, are sufficient to vend all the manufacture that can be made. The situation of this property must render it a desirable acquisition to any person inclined to engage in this line of business; and particularly so, as the Federal Government is just upon removing to the City of Washington, which must, of course, make the demand still greater. It is deemed unnecessary to say any thing more respecting the premises, as it is presumed any person inclined to purchase would wish to see them. Nothing would induce me to part with this valuable property, but for the pressing demands against those concerned, whoare anxious to discharge them; therefore a great bargain may be expected. Any further information required may be known on application to

July 3.

Ten Dollars Reward,

FOR apprehending negro CHARLES, about 44 years of age, who went off some time in November last. He has in one of his cheeks a hole which was occasioned by the tooth ache; one of his thumbs has been nearly cut off by an axe, at the first joint, which is now crooked; he has also had a whitlow on one of his hands, which had not got well when he left me, and I think it probable that the hand is withered, and he has a rupture in his bowels.

I have been lately informed, that he has turned Baptist, and is a preacher in Alexandria. He left year hired himself from me, and I gave him permission to pass and repass for 12 months; which I suppose he now shews for his pass, or perhaps he may pass for a freeman. The above reward will be given to any person (together with all reasonable charges) who will deliver him to me, or secure him in any gaol so that I get him again.

For Sale,

A Very valuable TRACT of LAND, in the lower end of King William County, in the State of Virginia, finely timbered with oak, cypress, &c. beautifully situated at the confluence of the rivers Pamunkey and Mattapony, and in its whole extent bounded by those two rivers.

This Land is generally known by the name of the West Point Tract, from its vicinity to a little village of that name. It contains about 2,200 acres of high land, and 700 of fine valuable marsh or meadow.

To detail the many advantages attached to this land, cannot well be done in a small compass; suffice it to say, without the aid of exaggeration, that few tracts exceed it in fertility of soil, in pleasantness, healthiness of situation, and the abundant other gifts which nature has lavished upon it. Fish of various kinds, oysters, wild fowl, and the best crabs in the state, are plentifully to be had in the adjoining rivers and creeks.

It is presumable that no person will purchase such a tract of land without having sufficient proof of its value; yet there is one circumstance so singularly advantageous, that it ought not to be omitted, which is, that there is no part of it more than half a mile from navigation, and that for vessels of any burthen.

The terms of sale will be made known by application to the subscribers, who will warrant the title.

Lands for Sale, or exchange for other Property.

SEVEN hundred and eighty-eight acres in the county of Hampshire, on the waters of Great Cape-Capon, about 20 miles from the Warm Springs, and 30 from Winchester.—This land is full of wood, oak and Pine Timber. Two excellent farms may be made, with 30 to 50 acres of bottom, and rich high lands in each; and in the heart of the timber there is a fine seat for a saw-mill. Capt. Daniel Rice will shew the lands.

Three thousand eight hundred and forty-five acres in the county of Ohio, on the waters of Grave and Fish creeks, near the river Ohio, and about 80 miles below Pittsburg. Some of these lands are very good, with considerable quantities of rich bottom, and plenty of excellent timber. Robert Woods, Esq. the Surveyor of that county, will shew these lands.

One hundred seventy six and three-fourths acres, within three miles of the Warm Springs, upon Great Cape-Capon, near its mouth, and within ¼ of a mile of the River Potomak. This land has about 20 to 30 acres of rich bottom, mostly in cultivation, with 274 fine sugar trees on it; from which, I am informed, there may be made 3000lb. of good sugar annually. There is also a seat for grist and saw mills on it, equal to any in that neighbourhood, and upon a never failing stream of water. The upland is rich, with plenty of timber, and part under cultivation. This farm is well improved with a good orchard, houses and fencing, and rented last year for produce equal to sixty pounds per an. Mr. Joseph Butler, at the Warm Springs, will shew it. I will sell all, or any of the above lands for cash, or upon credit, or take in exchange for them lands in Fairfax County, or Lots of land in the town of Alexandria, or the city of Washington.

R. T. HOOE.

FOR SALE,

The following Property:

A Tract of Land, in Loudoun County, near the Blue Ridge; on which the Subscriber now lives, containing 311 acres of level farming land; a good part of which may be easily converted into meadow, about 200 acres are in wood, and the remainder ready for farming. There are on the premises a stone house, two stories high, 46 by 32 feet, yet unfinished, and several useful out houses.

Also, a Tract of Land, in Stafford County, containing 137 acres; on which are an excellent orchard, and several houses, a little out of repair. There is a lease on this land for a few years, the tenant paying me a rent of 2000 wt. of Tobacco.

Likewise, a Lease for 185 Acres of Land, in the Manor of Leeds, in Loudoun County, adjoining the lease of Samuel Bartlett; on which there is an abundance of valuable timber, none of it being ever cut down.

As the subscriber is desirous of removing to the Westward, a great bargain will be given; the terms of which will be made known on application to him on the first mentioned land.
